

Etal grows as five Magnetics companies unite

We are proud to announce that AGW Electronics Ltd, Avon Magnetics Ltd, Etal, Talema Group, and GST will now operate under the Etal brand.

After years of close collaboration within KAMIC Group's Magnetics segment, this step creates a stronger, more unified organization. With a shared mission to deliver high-performance, customized magnetic solutions, and a vision built on a GLOCAL strategy, we combine local expertise with global resources. The same trusted people. The same reliable products. Now with even greater capability to support the future of electrification and innovation.

We are taking this step to enable progress and help solve essential technical challenges for our customers. Our customer-centric approach will remain unchanged. We will continue to adapt and develop solutions based on each customer's specific challenges.

" KAMIC Group's Magnetics Business Area consists of several strong companies that manufacture and supply high-performance magnetic components such as transformers and inductors. Over the years, we have strategically acquired businesses with deep technical know-how, specialised engineering capabilities, and high-quality manufacturing. Together, these companies form what is now Etal – a global magnetic powerhouse with production sites and sales offices across multiple countries. "
